Ordinarily, would it be considered gravely immoral, evil, or a violation of basic rights to deny a person the ability to breathe freely? To go outside or engage in commerce without the ability to breathe freely? Can real or hypothetical circumstances change that?

Who grants man the right to breathe? To himself or to a government? To decide what to put into or do with his own body? Is it just to demand that a man does harm to his physical or spiritual self for the “good” of others? Is man allowed the freedom to determine what may be harmful to him and avoid it?

Many now say; that the ability to decide is granted according to one’s ascent to government or scientific theories presented as fact. God never forces man to harm or sacrifice himself for others, nor to believe the Truth; He invites man, respecting free will. Neither fear nor claims of safety or common good eradicate the freedom that God grants to man. To grant the right to decide belongs to God and is not something that any man or any system may arbitrarily claim for itself. Forcing another to wear a mask is to deny free will, insisting that another’s will and belief supersedes theirs. To deny service to, fine, or imprison man for breathing freely is to equate it to a criminal act. This has been justified by reducing each person to the likeness of a contagion, not the God-given dignity due to humans.

Many believe that compliance with mandatory mask policies is rooted in fact or data. Are fragments of information understood according to how they are interpreted? Can facts and information be used to misrepresent and skew the perception of something so that it no longer reveals the Truth? What role does the omission of information play in the skewing of perception? Are selective pieces of information the same as the whole Truth? If this were about arriving at the Truth, why wouldn’t scholarly information be considered rather than almost immediately deemed as “false” and in need of censorship because it varies from the mainstream narrative and presents other choices and viewpoints?

Does fear justifiably crucify a person for exercising freedom of thought and act? Is there no hatred being exacted upon those who are wearing masks, however those who aren’t are subject to being cussed out, maced, attacked, fined, and jailed. If the justification of such behavior is the “care” of and concern for people, why is there not care and consideration being extended to those who do not believe that masks protect against the transmission of viruses? Does fear that they are wrong in their judgment warrant denying them the basic rights and privileges that are common to mankind or to society?

Messages given to Maria Divine Mercy:

“Pray, Pray, Pray for the courage not to accept the Mark of the vicious beast. He, through his evil army, will try to inflict what, at first, will be an evil identity stamp. This will be given to you and presented as essential in order for you to draw down money, buy food, travel, live in your homes and trade. This is the ultimate control.” 11/20/12 (Research Bill Gates/MIT vaccine tattoo)

Suddenly all will be asked to accept the one world Mark of Allegiance. A united world which all men will have to partake in. It will control your money, your access to food and how you live. Rules, many of them, will mean that you will become prisoners. The key to your cell, which keeps you under their control, will be the Mark of the Beast. 666 will be embedded, its number hidden, into a chip which you will be forced to wear. The chip which keeps you under their control, will be the Mark of the Beast. 666 will be embedded, its number hidden, into a chip which you will be forced to wear.

“God equated breath to life. This equates breath to death and contagion.

Manufactured pressure and oppression induce feelings of physical, spiritual, and emotional suffocation and distress through illegal restrictions and mandates, income loss, fear propaganda, bodily strain from restricted activity/diet changes and new exposure to 5G radiation, geo-engineered record heat, confusion from conflicting/cant say changing reports. scandal, and shaming.

The test is a swab that is forced all of the way through someone’s nasal cavity, into the back of their throat (an area of the body created to be untouched), and spun. The sample is then used to process a person’s genetic material.

In pandemic movies that pre-predicted this psy-op, a nasal vaccine, to be inhaled in each nostril, was promoted.

Lucifer masquerades; he hides his true face and intentions in order to deceive. If he were forthcoming, man would reject him and his lies. It is by masking that he steals and manipulates free will choice.

Below is the image of fear instead of Love, of rejection instead of invitation, of distance instead of nearness, of disgust instead of dignity, of the natural instead of the supernatural, of secular scientism instead of God, disgrace instead of Grace.

NO MASK: NO MASS, NO SACRAMENTS

Isn’t it odd when the Church is more concerned with sanitized hands and a breath than sanctified souls? With denying salvation than procuring it? With placing secular law above God’s Law, obeying and carrying out the persecution of people’s God? Obedience to evil is not a virtue.

Denying Sanctifying Grace is placing a greater value on natural life than Eternal Life. Asking the Faithful to obey evil is evil. Evil means are not justified for a good end.
